

On Combining Replication Approaches for Better Consumer Behavior Insights

Lennart Kehl
Goethe University Frankfurt

Cite as:

Kehl Lennart (2026), On Combining Replication Approaches for Better Consumer Behavior Insights.
Proceedings of the European Marketing Academy, 55th, (133456)

Paper from the 55th Annual EMAC Conference, Bath, United Kingdom, June 2-5, 2026

On Combining Replication Approaches for Better Consumer Behavior Insights

Abstract

We propose a two-step replication strategy combining direct and conceptual replications to enhance robustness and generalizability in marketing research. By first verifying original operationalizations, then testing underlying theoretical assumptions, our four-outcome framework guides researchers in establishing cumulative, reliable evidence across diverse empirical contexts.

Track: Consumer Behaviour